Volunteer Opportunities Information February 24, 2011

Davenport, Iowa – February, 2011 – The Figge Art Museum currently has volunteer opportunities available in the areas of education programs, family activity center, visitor services, community outreach and studio classes. Individuals who have an interest in community volunteerism or Quad City Art and Culture may register for the February volunteer information sessions.

The information session for prospective volunteers will be held on Thursday, February 24, 2011, from 2pm -3:30pm. Theses sessions will be geared specifically to adults, who are interested in volunteering and community support opportunities in art education, public relations, administrative support, community outreach and visitor services . The session will include an introduction of volunteer opportunities, a museum orientation and application procedures. To register for this session, please call Museum Services Director Jennifer Brooke, 563-326-7804, ext. 2048.

Volunteering at the Figge is a great way to support your community by sharing your personal and professional experience with a non profit organization. For more information, please visit the Figge Art Museum Web site, www.figgeartmuseum.org , or email j.brooke@figgeartmuseum.org .
