Mingo Fishtrap

The Redstone Room

Thursday, August 10, 9 p.m.

The band may be called Mingo Fishtrap, but it's obvious that they've been snaring more than mere sea creatures. Performing at Davenport's Redstone Room on August 10, the group plays what is described by MSN.com's Sarah Marmion as "a spicy combination of rich sounds like New Orleans-style R&B, blues, soul, salsa, funk, pop, and rock," and it appears that those are the exact ingredients for landing as many accolades as possible. In the span of two years, the group received Austin Music Awards for "Best Jam Band," "Best Funk Band," "Best Horns," and "Best Keyboardist," and music critics have landed in Mingo's fishtrap as well; the Austin Chronicle 's David Lynch (no, not that David Lynch) wrote that "their gumbo of tight 'n' punchy horns, deep rhythms, restless melodies, and emotive singing has garnered Mingo justified respect as a live powerhouse." That's a glowing endorsement, but it's topped by the succinct analysis of KLBJ-TV's Peg Simmons, who saw Mingo Fishtrap in concert and said, "I had an eargasm." Wow. I'll have the bait that she's having. For further information on Mingo Fishtrap and future Redstone Room performers, visit (http://www.redstoneroom.com).
