As I only predicted 15 out of 24 categories correctly for the previous Academy Awards, obviously I have some making up to do for my prognostic abilities to again be taken seriously.

Of all freakin' times to attempt a comeback ... !

Seriously, this is one of those wacky, anomalous years in which nearly anything could happen at the annual Oscar ceremony. (This year's is scheduled to air locally on ABC's WQAD-TV affiliate on Sunday, February 24, beginning at 7 p.m.). Argo could win the big prize despite its lack of a Best Director nod, or it could be shut out entirely. (I'm guessing the former.)

Lincoln

could sweep, or it could be relegated to one lone win from 12 nominations. (Sadly, I'm guessing the latter.)

Silver Linings Playbook

could score in numerous categories because – like 2011's

The Artist

and 2010's

The King's Speech –

it has producer and legendary Oscar hunter Harvey Weinstein on its side, or it

Hmm. Maybe I should've given the Weinstein thing more consideration before making these predictions.

Alas, the predictions have been made, and in boldface no less, so I guess there's no turning back now. I urge you to employ caution if you're planning to use them for your office's annual Oscar pool. And you may as well flip a coin on Best Supporting Actor. Preferably a five-sided coin.

BEST PICTURE

Amour

Argo

Beasts of the Southern Wild

Django Unchained

Les Misérables

Life of Pi

Lincoln

Silver Linings Playbook

Zero Dark Thirty

At present, Ben Affleck is so beloved in the industry that he probably could've directed that tacky, sci-fi script-within-the-script version of Argo and it still would've won Best Picture.

BEST DIRECTOR

Michael Haneke, Amour

Ang Lee, Life of Pi

David O. Russell, Silver Linings Playbook

Steven Spielberg, Lincoln

Benh Zeitlin, Beasts of the Southern Wild

Though if, through some miracle, this award's presenter exclaims, "And the Oscar goes to ... Ben Affleck

!", I won't be the least bit surprised.

BEST ACTOR

Bradley Cooper, Silver Linings Playbook

Daniel Day-Lewis, Lincoln

Hugh Jackman, Les Misérables

Joaquin Phoenix, The Master

Denzel Washington, Flight

Hail to the chief.

BEST ACTRESS

Jessica Chastain, Zero Dark Thirty

Jennifer Lawrence, Silver Linings Playbook

Emmanuelle Riva, Amour

Quvenzhané Wallis, Beasts of the Southern Wild

Naomi Watts, The Impossible

"Gee ... Emmanuelle turns 86 on February 24 We really should get her something nice this year"

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR

Alan Arkin, Argo

Robert De Niro, Silver Linings Playbook

Philip Seymour Hoffman, The Master

Tommy Lee Jones, Lincoln

Christoph Waltz, Django Unchained

And if this happens, De Niro will have beaten Day-Lewis to a third Oscar by at least an hour. Take that, Brits! USA! USA!

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS

Amy Adams, The Master

Sally Field, Lincoln

Anne Hathaway, Les Misérables

Helen Hunt, The Sessions

Jacki Weaver, Silver Linings Playbook

One song plus one unbroken take equals one Oscar.

BEST ORIGINAL SCREENPLAY

Amour*, Michael Haneke

Django Unchained, Quentin Tarantino

Flight, John Gatins

Moonrise Kingdom, Wes Anderson, Roman Coppola

Zero Dark Thirty, Mark Boal

After big wins from Critics Choice Award (CCA), Golden Globe, and British Academy of Film & Television Arts (BAFTA) voters, Tarantino should be the no-contest choice here. But Amour's unexpectedly powerful showing in numerous Oscar categories makes me think otherwise. Take that

, Americans!

Aus-tri-a! Aus-tri-a!

BEST ADAPTED SCREENPLAY

Argo*, Chris Terrio

Beasts of the Southern Wild, Lucy Alibar, Benh Zeitlin

Life of Pi, David Magee

Lincoln, Tony Kushner

Silver Linings Playbook, David O. Russell

Kushner's script, I'm convinced, is a thing of genius, and Russell, despite heavy competition, recently won the BAFTA prize in this category. But Argo is about hostages who are rescued, in part, by a screenplay titled Argo.

Academy voters should just give Terrio's script the Oscar and miniature tights and a cape.

BEST ANIMATED FEATURE

Brave

Frankenweenie

ParaNorman

The Pirates! Band of Misfits

Wreck-It Ralph

Frankenweenie would be welcome, long-delayed acknowledgment of Tim Burton, and Wreck-It Ralph w ould be a relatively hip option for a generally unhip Academy.

ParaNorman

, meanwhile, would just be my choice, so obviously that's not gonna happen. (Nor will

The Pirates!

) Let's go with the Golden Globe and BAFTA winner in this category – maybe not a brave prediction, but a prediction nonetheless.

BEST ORIGINAL SONG

"Before My Time," Chasing Ice

"Everybody Needs a Best Friend," Ted

"Pi's Lullaby," Life of Pi

"Skyfall," Skyfall

"Suddenly," Les Misérables

I wonder if Adele's new Grammy is looking for a dance partner ... ?

BEST FOREIGN-LANGUAGE FILM

Amour*, Austria

Kon-Tiki, Norway

No, Chile

A Royal Affair, Denmark

War Witch, Canada

"Amour" is French for "love." What's French for "such a done deal that there's no point discussing it"?

BEST DOCUMENTARY FEATURE

5 Broken Cameras

The Gatekeepers

How to Survive a Plague

The Invisible War

Searching for Sugar Man

For the first time ever, I've seen all five nominees in this category prior to the ceremony, and am thinking my favorite will actually be the Academy's favorite, too. Wow. Maybe that does happen on occasion.

BEST ORIGINAL SCORE

Anna Karenina

Argo

Life of Pi

Lincoln

Skyfall

Anna Karenina's Dario Marianelli previously won for 2007's Atonement. Lincoln's John Williams has won, like, a million of these things.

Argo

's Alexandre Desplat and

Skyfall

's Thomas Newman are overdue for Oscar recognition. (The latter ridiculously

so.) But thanks in large part to composer Mychael Danna,

Life of Pi

sounds as good as it looks, and it looks amazing

BEST CINEMATOGRAPHY

Anna Karenina

Django Unchained

Life of Pi

Lincoln

Skyfall

Have I mentioned that Life of Pi looks amazing?

BEST FILM EDITING

Argo

Life of Pi

Lincoln

Silver Linings Playbook

Zero Dark Thirty

Generally speaking, the Best Picture winner also wins Best Film Editing. It just didn't last year ... or the year before that Damn that boldface!

BEST PRODUCTION DESIGN

Anna Karenina

The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey

Les Misérables

Life of Pi

Lincoln

I should probably be going with Les Mis or Life of Pi on this – or, quite frankly, The Hobbit or Lincoln – but that theatre set that magically transformed into an entire bloody Tolstoy novel is just too jaw-dropping not to predict.

BEST COSTUME DESIGN

Anna Karenina

Les Misérables

Lincoln

Mirror Mirror

Snow White & the Huntsman

Fun as it is to imagine a battle royale between dueling Snow Whites, I'm pretty certain another fictional lady has this one in the bag.

BEST SOUND EDITING

Argo

Django Unchained

Life of Pi

Skyfall

Zero Dark Thirty

A hunch based solely on the presumption that three Oscars for Argo won't be deemed enough.

BEST SOUND MIXING

Argo

Les Misérables

Life of Pi

Lincoln

Skyfall

Nominated musicals almost always win this category, and will likely continue to even though I know the Les Mis songs by heart and still couldn't comprehend all the lyrics to that opening number.

BEST VISUAL EFFECTS

The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey

Life of Pi

Marvel's The Avengers

Prometheus

Snow White & the Huntsman

Tony the tiger. I mean, Oscar the tiger.

BEST MAKEUP & HAIRSTYLING

The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey

Hitchcock

Les Misérables

The Hobbit feels too "been there, awarded that." Anthony Hopkins looked less like Hitch than like a marshmallow with eyes. Les Mis it is, then.

BEST DOCUMENTARY SHORT

Inocente

Kings Point

Mondays at Racine

Open Heart

Redemption

Missing teens, dying seniors, cancer patients, surgery in Rwanda, America's economic crisis ... welcome to the Academy Awards' annual happy-fun-time category! What say we go with missing teens this year?

BEST LIVE-ACTION SHORT

Asad

Buzkashi Boys

Curfew

Death of a Shadow (Dood van een Schaduw)

Henry

A hunch based solely on Curfew being the category's one English-language nominee. Hey, if I can be lazy, Oscar voters can, too!

BEST ANIMATED SHORT

Adam & Dog

Fresh Guacamole

Head Over Heels

Maggie Simpson in "The Longest Daycare"

Paperman

Disney's charming black-and-white entry will likely take it, and Adam & Dog totally deserves it. But if, through some miracle, this award's presenter exclaims, "And the Oscar goes to ...

Ben Affleck

!", I won't be the least bit surprised.
