With its proceeds split between Doctors Without Borders, Human Rights Watch, and Oxfam America, next week's release of Waxploitation Records' Darfur benefit CD is worth searching for. Causes 1 is the first of a proposed series of CDs, available on iTunes for 90 days and available as a limited-edition physical CD directly from the label's site.

Why the three-month rush to wrap up the sales? As label founder Jeff Antebi explains, "These non-profits need help there now." Fourteen tracks were contributed to the effort from a topnotch list of participants, including Thievery Corporation, Bloc Party, and Travis - turning in a cover of John Lennon's "Gimme Some Truth." Other exclusive live versions and sessions come from The Black Keys

David Sylvian

Bright Eyes

The Cure

Animal Collective

, and
Death Cab For Cutie

- covering

Julian Cope

's "World Shut Your Mouth."

Long awaited in the DVD format, Nirvana's 1993 MTV Unplugged performance hits store shelves this week. Like the 1994 CD release, the DVD will feature 22 minutes not originally broadcast by MTV, as well as bonus sound checks and backstage antics.

Taking the DVD medium to a new level in interactive choices and high-end quality is AIX Records and its "collectors' edition" series. Carving out a niche as a creator of high-definition-video/5.1-channel-audio DVDs, the label's John Gorka: The Gypsy Life offers two discs in a gorgeous slipcase design. Featuring interviews, confessions, rehearsals, and live footage from the McCabe's Guitar Shop stage (with fretless bassist wizard Michael Manring), the double-sided discs offer four different audio/video choices to enjoy the set.

Neil Young is the subject of a new "independent critical analysis" documentary, Under Review 1976-2006 from the UK's Sexy Intellectual imprint. The producers of the film may not have had Young's blessing, but the result holds a lot of love and respect for the man. Album by album, and era by era, some of the biggest names in rock criticism offer their insights backed by rare live footage and photographs, from the Village Voice

's Robert Christgau and

BAM

magazine's Dave Zimmer to biography authors Johnny Rogan and John Einarson. One bonus feature rates your knowledge, calling itself "the hardest Neil Young interactive quiz in the world."

One of the most fascinating artist profiles of another creative icon has just been released in an expanded reissue. Told through the anecdotes and memories of peers, managers, girlfriends, and the band members themselves, The Pink Floyd & Syd Barrett Story includes a bonus disc in the new edition, featuring the full, unedited interviews from the original film, and extremely up-close sessions with fans

Graham Coxon

of

Blur

performing Barrett's "Love You," and psychedelic son

Robyn Hitchcock

covering "Dominoes" and "It Is Obvious."

Back in 1981, Queen were one of the first bands to capture an evening's entire performance on 35-millimeter film, the results of which now make up Queen Rock

Montreal

, using the best of today's technology to wring every note and emotion from the master tapes. Scheduled

Chris Ross

If funk's more your flavor, check out Stranger: Bernie Worrell on Earth, a new DVD from MVD Visual that documents the talented keyboardist who joined the Washington Symphony Orchestra at age 10 and later became the backbone for a variety of associates including

Parliament Funkadelic

and the

Talking Heads
