

Ron Paul Statement Concerning Becket Fund for Religious Liberties Lawsuit

Written by Gary Howard

Tuesday, 20 December 2011 16:04

---

- Buy OEM Rosetta Stone - Learn Hebrew \(Level 1, 2 Set\)
- Buy OEM Adobe Premiere Elements 10 \(64-bit\)
- Buy Adobe InDesign CS3 \(en\)
- Buy ElcomSoft Advanced Windows Password Recovery 3.51 \(en\)
- Buy Cheap Adobe Creative Suite 5.5 Design Standard MAC
- Discount - Acronis True Image Home 2010
- 299.95\$ Avid Media Composer 6 MAC \(64 bit\) cheap oem
- Buy OEM TamoSoft CommView For WiFi 6 Full
- Buy OEM Microsoft Windows Server 2003 Enterprise R2 SP2 \(32 bit\)
- Buy Cheap ACDSee Canvas 11 with GIS Module
- Discount - Adobe Flash CS4 Professional
- Buy Autodesk Maya 2011 MAC \(en,ja\)
- Buy Cheap Autodesk Alias Design 2012 \(32-bit\)

Citing Jefferson, Dr. Paul calls federal mandate forcing private institutions to cover contraceptives “sinful and tyrannical” LAKE JACKSON, Texas – The Ron Paul 2012 Presidential campaign released the following statement concerning the Becket Fund for Religious Liberties lawsuit filed on behalf of Belmont Abbey College, located in North Carolina. Below please find comments from Congressman Paul:

"I applaud the Becket Fund for coming to the defense of Belmont Abbey College, a Catholic school founded by Benedictine monks. Federal bureaucrats are using their powers to try to force this traditional Catholic school to cover contraceptives, defined to include drugs such as RU-486, as part of their group health care plan.

“Thomas Jefferson said it was ‘sinful and tyrannical’ to ‘compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves and abhors.’ Forcing private religious institutions to cover RU-486 certainly falls within Jefferson's definition of sinful and tyrannical.

“Unlike other candidates, I have fought against the federal promotion, funding, and mandating of contraceptives and abortion my entire political career. As President, I will use my constitutional authority to stop federal bureaucrats from forcing any institution to violate their sacred moral and religious beliefs by making them provide coverage for contraceptives in their health insurance plan.” ###