KIMBERLING CITY, Mo. (Feb. 23, 2012) – National Guard FLW College Fishing is headed to Table Rock Lake March 3 for the first of four stops in the Central Conference. Forty college teams will be competing for a top award of $5,000 and a berth in the Central Regional Championship tournament.

“Fishing is real good,” said

of Sunrise Beach, Mo. “They are catching some big weights on Table Rock right now. I think it is going to take in the mid 20-pound range to win.

“The bass are going to be suspended for the most part,” Hibdon went on to say. “I would target channel swings and bluff ends using jerkbaits and swimming a grub. You’re going to see some pretty awesome weights at this tournament.”

According to Hibdon, the mild winter and warm temperatures have the fish biting well.

Anglers will take off from Port of Kimberling Marina located at 72 Marina Way in Kimberling City, Mo., at 7 a.m. Saturday. Weigh-in will also be at the marina beginning at 1 p.m. Takeoff and weigh-in are free and open to the public.

Schools competing in the Table Rock Lake tournament, which is hosted by the Port of Kimberling Marina, include:

Eastern Illinois University – Chase Sanford, Charleston, Ill., and Lee Buehnerkemper, Teutopolis, Ill.

Eastern Kentucky – Tyler Moberly, Berea, Ky., and Ethan Snyder, Vine Grove, Ky.

Georgetown College – Mike Huff, Corbin, Ky., and Nick Huff, Georgetown, Ky.

Grace College – Christopher Valentine, Warsaw, Ind., and Mike Depositari, Winona Lake, Ind.
